Parramatta Dental Surgery

Prepared for Michael · Parramatta, Sydney · 1 June 2026

Executive Summary

Parramatta Dental Surgery holds an impressive 5.0 star rating, which is 0.4 stars above the competitor average of 4.6. However, with only 138 reviews compared to the competitor average of 200, the practice is under-represented in volume despite delivering superior patient satisfaction. Closing the review gap is the single biggest opportunity to convert that rating advantage into more new patient enquiries. RATING_ANALYSIS A 5.0 rating against a competitor average of 4.6 is a meaningful gap. Most patients scanning Google filter by quality first, and a perfect score stands out immediately. However, a 5.0 with only 138 reviews can trigger scepticism from cautious searchers who associate low volume with limited credibility. The rating is an asset, but it needs review volume behind it to carry full weight in a competitive Parramatta dental market. REVIEW_ANALYSIS At 138 reviews versus a competitor average of 200, Parramatta Dental Surgery is 62 reviews behind the benchmark. To reach parity within 60 days, the practice needs to generate roughly 30 to 35 new reviews per month, which is achievable with a structured post-appointment request system. Without one, organic growth typically averages 2 to 5 reviews per month, meaning the gap widens while competitors maintain their volume advantage in local search rankings. PROFILE_GAPS The core gap is review velocity. With no consistent system to request reviews from satisfied patients, the practice is leaving its strongest asset underutilised. A 5.0 rating from 138 people is statistically less convincing to Google's algorithm and to prospective patients than a 4.8 from 300 people. There is also no evidence of owner responses to existing reviews, which signals engagement to both Google and new patients researching the practice. PRIORITY_ACTIONS 1. Implement a post-appointment SMS or email review request sequence that triggers within 2 hours of a completed visit, directing patients directly to the Google review link to remove friction. 2. Respond to every existing Google review within the next 14 days, both positive and any future reviews, as consistent owner responses are a confirmed local ranking signal and build trust with undecided patients. 3. Set a monthly review target of 30 new Google reviews and track progress weekly, treating review generation as an ongoing practice metric rather than a passive outcome. WHAT_WE_DO GrowVera delivers a structured 4-week local SEO engagement for Parramatta Dental Surgery. Week one covers full Google Business Profile optimisation to maximise visibility in Parramatta search results. Weeks two and three focus on building 50 or more accurate local citations across Australian directories to strengthen geographic authority. Running in parallel is a custom review request system designed to generate consistent monthly review volume. Ongoing monthly reports track ranking movement, review growth, and citation accuracy. EXPECTED_OUTCOME Based on the current numbers, a realistic 60-day outcome is reaching 170 to 190 Google reviews while maintaining the 5.0 rating. This closes roughly half the volume gap with competitors and strengthens the profile's authority in local search. The 5.0 rating already differentiates the practice. Adding meaningful review volume behind it makes that rating credible and competitive rather than impressive but thin. Rankings and enquiry volume typically begin responding within 45 to 60 days of consistent activity

RATING ANALYSIS

What your star rating means

A 5.0 rating against a competitor average of 4.6 is a meaningful gap. Most patients scanning Google filter by quality first, and a perfect score stands out immediately. However, a 5.0 with only 138 reviews can trigger scepticism from cautious searchers who associate low volume with limited credibility. The rating is an asset, but it needs review volume behind it to carry full weight in a competitive Parramatta dental market.

REVIEW ANALYSIS

Review count vs competitors

At 138 reviews versus a competitor average of 200, Parramatta Dental Surgery is 62 reviews behind the benchmark. To reach parity within 60 days, the practice needs to generate roughly 30 to 35 new reviews per month, which is achievable with a structured post-appointment request system. Without one, organic growth typically averages 2 to 5 reviews per month, meaning the gap widens while competitors maintain their volume advantage in local search rankings.

PROFILE GAPS

What's missing from your profile

The core gap is review velocity. With no consistent system to request reviews from satisfied patients, the practice is leaving its strongest asset underutilised. A 5.0 rating from 138 people is statistically less convincing to Google's algorithm and to prospective patients than a 4.8 from 300 people. There is also no evidence of owner responses to existing reviews, which signals engagement to both Google and new patients researching the practice.

PRIORITY ACTIONS

The 3 things to fix first

- 1 Implement a post-appointment SMS or email review request sequence that triggers within 2 hours of a completed visit, directing patients directly to the Google review link to remove friction.
- 2 Respond to every existing Google review within the next 14 days, both positive and any future reviews, as consistent owner responses are a confirmed local ranking signal and build trust with undecided patients.
- 3 Set a monthly review target of 30 new Google reviews and track progress weekly, treating review generation as an ongoing practice metric rather than a passive outcome.

EXPECTED OUTCOME

What to expect in 60 days

Based on the current numbers, a realistic 60-day outcome is reaching 170 to 190 Google reviews while maintaining the 5.0 rating. This closes roughly half the volume gap with competitors and strengthens the profile's authority in local search. The 5.0 rating already differentiates the practice. Adding meaningful review volume behind it makes that rating credible and competitive rather than impressive but thin. Rankings and enquiry volume typically begin responding within 45 to 60 days of consistent activity.
